GERMAN 101: Beginning German 1 ONLINE

Have you always wanted to learn German, but somehow never found the time to do so? Here is your chance! This semester, we are offering our regular “Beginning German 1” course online.

This course is aimed at true beginners: Learn how to greet people, give basic personal and family information, discuss your hobbies and your housing situation, talk about your clothing and food preferences, and find out how to make small talk about the weather. Discover how punctual the Germans really are, and whether they truly eat sauerkraut and sausage all the time!

We will meet on Zoom three times a week (MWF 9-9:50), so you will still get many opportunities to practice your new skills by communicating with others, but you can do that from wherever you can find a quiet place to log on.

Questions whether this is the right course for you? Contact Dr. Viktoria Harms at v.harms@pitt.edu.